Mr. MacKay,

My name is Samson Cantu. My wife and I have 2 wonderfully, healthy boys named Matthew (5 years) and James (2.5 years). We have known Kona Morren for the past 4 years. As a local pediatrician, I unfortunately have seen the end result of drowning and near-drowning events, which could potentially have been avoided by routine, important swim safety.

As new parents we felt absolutely determined to do everything in our power to prevent this with our children. As any informed parent would, we did our research, investigating swimming classes available to us.

We fortunately learned of Flipkicks. Initially I felt a little skeptical of just 10 minute swim lessons daily for our toddler. Once we enrolled into the infant survival class we soon learned that 10 minute sessions were more than enough.

Throughout our time with Flipkicks, we have successfully had both of our boys complete the survival swim course, and have maintained their swimming skills. The personal attention we receive from Kona and her instructors speaks volumes to how she has continued to run her business. We truly feel blessed to have her instruct our boys on a consistent basis, continuing to stress the fundamentals. We are amazed as to how patient she has always been with our boys and her many other families.

Being affiliated with Kona and Flipkicks would be an absolute advantage to your brand. There is something to be said for a national chain to have a hometown affiliation, pushing for the greater good of the community.

Feel free to contact me if any other questions/concerns arise.

Sincerely,
